MEDIA ADVISORY

Coliseum Commission Considers Request For Two NFL Teams at Historic Stadium

WHEN: 2:30 p.m., Thursday, January 28, 2016

WHAT: Supervisor Mark Ridley-Thomas, president of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Commission, will take up a proposal to amend the Coliseum's lease with the University of Southern California so that two National Football League teams can share the stadium with the Trojans.

Currently, USC's lease accommodates only one NFL team. The NFL, however, voted January 12 to let the Rams – and possibly the Chargers or Raiders – to return to Los Angeles.

The Rams plan to play at the Coliseum through 2019, when their own stadium in Inglewood is completed. The Chargers have the option to join the Rams in Los Angeles. If the Chargers decline, the option would be given to the Raiders.
